URI INTERNATIONAL

URI International is a manufacturer and supplier of innovative nutritional products with a special emphasis on superior concentrated whole food based nutrition. Our Corporate Offices, as well as our own Processing, Packaging and Shipping Facilities are located in Cedar City, Utah.

The URI International solution to the nutritional crisis facing our world is simple...“Back to Basics.” Back to complete balance of live, whole food based concentrates that provide the nutritional support your body needs—just the way Nature intended.

PRODUCT LINES

At URI International, we refuse to compromise and have spared no expense to combine the highest quality and combination of ingredients into each URI Product for optimum nutritional support. Each product in our URI International Nutritional Product Line has been designed to deliver superb nutritional benefits.

URI International understands that in order for people to experience the value and benefits that a quality, live, whole food based nutritional supplement can offer, 4 criteria must be met:

- Organic, all natural ingredients from the purest sources available.
- The highest quality, quantity and variety of wholesome ingredients.
- Combined in synergistic formulations that allow ingredients to work together.
- Provided in a premium form for the body to receive optimal benefits.

At URI International, we understand that Nature has provided us with a perfect, naturally balanced form of nutrition in fresh, raw whole foods. There are thousands of naturally occurring nutritional compounds in their natural, synergistic state that can only be obtained from these foods. Many are nutrients that cannot be isolated and placed into a synthetic vitamin or mineral supplement.

URI International realizes that many people are looking for ways to achieve a healthier lifestyle. Even the U.S. Government recommends that everyone consume 5 to 9 servings of fresh fruits and vegetables daily. However, it is inconvenient, expensive and difficult, if not impossible, to consume an adequate quantity and variety of fresh, raw whole foods in our daily diet. As a result, most people are not experiencing the extraordinary nutritional value that these foods can provide.

The URI International Whole Food Line offers the most convenient, balanced, natural, nutrient dense form of nutrition available. Our Products support the body with natural, earth grown, whole food nutrients that are far superior to synthetic, fragmented, and isolated vitamin or mineral supplements. Most importantly, the crucial nutrients found in URI Products are still intact and bioavailable. By supplying each ingredient in its most natural form, the essential natural plant elements necessary for enhanced nutrient absorption and effectiveness are present.

Only the finest ingredients are used to create each URI Product. URI assures the quality of each ingredient through strict control standards, growing requirements and testing methods. Our Whole Food Based Product Line is never pasteurized or irradiated, and does NOT contain any preservatives, fillers, excipients, additives, dairy, MSG or GMO. All ingredients are either organic, certified organic and are free of synthetic pesticides and fertilizers.

Our concentrated formulas and proprietary processing, coupled with our quality, quantity and variety of premium ingredients create the most nutrient dense, convenient to use, lifestyle-friendly and great tasting nutritional products on the market. Best of all, URI Products are provided at an unbeatable value.

FARMS

Our URI drying facilities are located within a pristine mountain valley in Southern Utah surrounded by 4,700 acres of certified organic farmland where a number of our whole food ingredients are grown.

This fertile land was once a lakebed, now covered with a deep layer of soil enriched by centuries of volcanic ash, mountain water runoff and organic matter pouring into the valley. This pristine farmland provides some of the most nutrient rich soil on earth; abundant in selenium and other rare earth metals, friendly organisms, fulvic acid and a multitude of micronutrients vital for optimum plant growth. These conditions, combined with the regions ideal elevation for farming, proper crop rotation, ample sunshine, clean air, low humidity, and the continued re-mineralization from the surrounding snow capped mountains produces our nutrient dense, organic crops.

Each crop is nurtured and harvested at their peak nutrient levels, then carefully selected and taken to our on-site facility to be dried through our unique InstaFresh™ Drying Process.

Feed your body the live whole food based nutrition your body knows, the nourishment your body needs. Unleash the life within!

WHAT NATURE INTENDED...
BACK TO BASICS

URI INSTAFRESH™ DRYING PROCESS

For over two decades, David Uri LeBaron, Founder/CEO of URI International, has passionately pursued and perfected our proprietary and revolutionary low-temperature InstaFresh™ Drying Process that preserves the nutritional integrity of fresh, whole foods. This revolutionary process enables us to provide a more cost effective and convenient way for you to consume the naturally balanced form of nutrition your body needs through URI Products.

The InstaFresh™ Drying Process concentrates live whole foods and fresh raw juices into nutrient dense, unpasteurized, great tasting, juice powders for the ultimate in all natural and convenient nutrition – all of this is completed within 30 seconds! During this process, the product temperature averages 65°F and never exceeds 100°F, which is considered an extraordinary achievement in the drying industry. All of this is accomplished within hours of harvest! The short period of time between harvest and the locking of the natural life force of our whole foods into a powder form is one of the critical reasons why our URI products are the most nutritionally dense in the industry today!

Our proprietary InstaFresh™ Drying Process ensures that the fresh whole food powder concentrates found in URI Products retain as much of the natural goodness of live, whole foods as possible: the synergy of vitamins, minerals, live enzymes, antioxidants, amino acids, phytonutrients, ORAC value and countless other cofactors in their perfect natural balance. It's as close as you can get to Nature in its purest form! Even the flavor and aroma are preserved. We NEVER pasteurize or use preservatives. As a result, our unique whole food based InstaFresh™ Juice Powder concentrates provide the most bioavailable, easily digested, nutrient dense product on the market. These wholesome ingredients are then blended, packaged and labeled at our own facilities and shipped directly to you!

OUR COMMITMENT TO YOU

URI International has one focus and one purpose: To continue to provide the highest quality, most effective and affordable concentrated whole food based nutritional supplements on the market.

URI International maintains its product superiority through ongoing research and scientific developments to ensure that our products, ingredients and drying process remain the best in the industry.†
